Bad Cat Frozen Semen Stud Fee Contract

1. DeMille Family Ranch owns and chooses to sell to _____ (Buyer), a stud fee using frozen semen from their Single-footing Standardbred Stallion, "HeZa Bad Cat" for the price of $1,000 (One Thousand U.S. Dollars) per mare being bred. Each dose contains four straws, which each contain 2 Billion Live Motile Sperm. Shipping Fee will be waived on the initial order, but will cost Buyer $150 per additional doses ordered.
2. This Stud Fee comes with a conception and live foal guarantee, as follows: If a mare conceives and then loses her foal or the foal is still born, then DeMilles will ship additional semen to re-breed the mare, according to the same terms as a new stud fee. If a mare is bred 4 times and has not conceived, then she will be considered a poor candidate for breeding via frozen semen and this contract will be considered fulfilled and void, and no more semen will be shipped. A re-breed guarantee must be used the same year as initial purchase or the following year.
3. Buyer understands that this Stud Fee Frozen Semen can be used only on the ONE mare listed on the shipping information sheet, but if the mare owner wishes to breed a different mare INSTEAD of the mare listed, then DeMilles must be notified in advance of the breeding and agree to the change, or all guarantees are null and void. All vet ultrasounds must be copied and sent to DeMilles for guarantees.
4. Buyer understands that the burden of conception is placed entirely upon the mare owner, and hired veterinarian or technician. It's understood that mare must be inseminated at the right time (immediately upon ovulation and again 6 hours later, being recommended for two doses or within 4 hours following ovulation for one dose usage) and placed in the right place (via "deep uterine horn insemination" in the mare's uterine horn that just released an egg) and proper methods of handling must be used in regards to the semen and ultra sounding the mare. Buyer has been advised by DeMille's that choosing an educated and experienced veterinarian or reproductive technician will increase the odds of achieving pregnancy.
5. DeMille's shall not be held liable for delays in delivery, semen lost in shipment, or mishandled in any manner after leaving their farm or storage/shipping facility. DeMille's will be held harmless of any claims of harm of any kind, which might be associated, in any way, with the transported semen.
6. The following must be received by DeMille's & $ cleared the bank prior to actual shipment of semen:
A) Signed copy of this Frozen Semen Stud Fee Contract & AI Shipping Information Form
B) $1,000/Dose of Frozen Semen Ordered
